Wretched, Indeed,
Are those whom a confirmed tendency to biliousness, subject to the various and changeful symptoms indicative of liver complaint. Nausea, sick headache, constipation, furred tongue, an unpleasant breath, a dull, sharp pain in the neighborhood of the affected organ, impurity of the blood and loss of appetite signalize it as one of the most distressing as it is one of the most common of maladies. There is, however, a benign specific for the disease and all its unpleasant manifestations. It is the concurrent testimony of the public and the medical profession that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a medicine which achieves results speedily felt, thorough and benign. Besides rectifying liver disorder it invigorates the feeble, conquers kidney and bladder complaints and hastens the convalescence of those recovering from enfeebling diseases. Moreover it is the grand specific for fever and ague.

CONGRESS ADJOURNS

The River and Harbor Bill Killed by a "Pocket Veto."

ALSO THE ANNEXATION MEASURE.

The Fortifications Bill Killed in Conference—The General Deficiency Bill Dies for Want of Time—Closing Scenes

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The associated press to-night carries a full statement of the general proceedings of the last days of congress. In the appropriation bills as passed there are a few hitherto unpublished items relating to the Northwest, but, owing to unavoidable confusion in the clerical offices in both legislative bodies, it is at this time impossible to ascertain how many of them failed at the hands of conference committees. Congressmen do not [illegible] to be [illegible]. Everybody, however, knows that the river and harbor bill is killed by the president's pocket veto, and many of them that the bill to annex northern Idaho to Washington fails to become a law from the same [illegible]. It [illegible] were a majority of the congressmen that the president would sign the river and harbor bill, but since its passage by congress comparatively little thought has been given to the measure. Near the close of the last session the question everywhere asked was "Do you think the president will sign the river and harbor bill?" and this was continued for days. No such anxiety was apparent this session. Therefore the withholding by the executive of his signature was a [illegible]. He has had the bill several days to [illegible] carefully to examine it, and therefore his action must be considered as being the effect of deliberation.

The pocket veto became known in the senate soon after congress adjourned, and senators were given an opportunity to exchange with one another their feelings and disappointment, disgust or anger as the case might be. In the house the news did not circulate until many of the members had left the capitol, but most of those who remained vented their feelings in words more forcible than choice.

So far as known, no one has received intimation from the president as to why he withheld his signature from the bill, but an effort will be made to-morrow to ascertain this.

All the officials are to-day lifeless from the all night session, but will to-morrow be able to do full justice to the action of the president. Condemnation of his course may be considered general except among the few who have hitherto so persistently opposed the river and harbor bill.

THE ANNEXATION DEFEAT.

To people friendly to Washington territory the pocket veto on the annexation bill fell like a thunderbolt. It was supposed last night that when the secretary of the interior had virtually recommended the signing of the bill Mr. Cleveland's name would be appended thereto. During last night a telegram signed by several senators urging signature of the bill was sent him. When he reached the capitol to-day and it was learned that he had not signed it the friends of the measure went to him and entered further pleadings. His only reply was that he had received a telegram from the governor of Idaho protesting against the division of the territory and against the signing of the annexation bill, and therefore he could not see his way clear to exercise his power to make the bill a law.

THE DEFICIENCY BILL.

The following were among the items that did not become laws, owing to the failure of congress to pass the deficiency bill: Appropriation of $20,000 to continue in use revenue steamers for protection of the interests of the government on the Seal Islands and enforcement of the laws in Alaska; appropriation of $5,000 for laying a new cable at the mouth of the Columbia river, providing the $5000 appropriated in the sundry civil bill for repair of the old cable fails to effect the desired results. There are eighteen private claims aggregating about $2000 of citizens of Oregon and Washington for services rendered the government in different ways and at different times. These claims had been allowed by the accounting officers of the treasury department.

NOTES.

Pensions have been granted to John C. Mehr, The Dalles; Wm. B. Bever, Silverton; Rufus Cox, Central Point, Jackson county; James D. Courtney, Walla Walla, W. T.; D. Hunter, Colfax; G. H. Murther, Dayton, W. T.; Jesse Baker, Gray's River, W. T.

Senator Dolph was to-day appointed by the president of the senate a member of the committee to visit the military academy at West Point during commencement week. This is understood to be some time in June.

The mail service from Mossy Rock to Cowlitz, in Washington territory, will be increased to three times a week, beginning March 16.

Orders will soon be issued by the postoffice department to increase the mail service from Arlington to Fossil from three to six times per week. It has not been decided when the service will begin. T. C. J.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—In the debate last night on the general deficiency bill Cockrell objected to items allowing compensation to Pacific railways for transportation of supplies, etc., for the government, on the ground that the roads owed the government many millions of dollars. Cockrell maintained that the items in question should not now be paid in cash, but credited in account between the government and the roads.

Stanford said the roads had performed the service indicated by the items and asked Cockrell if he proposed that the government should plead the baby act in the matter.

Cockrell disclaimed any such intention, but insisted upon his point that no cash should now be paid for this service.

Hale said the roads merely wanted the accounts passed. The money would not be paid. The items, he added, had at a former session received the assent of the senate without objection by the senator from Missouri (Cockrell).

After further remarks by Cockrell and McPherson, who said these items were extraordinary in view of the recent action of congress, the first of the items in question was agreed to.

An amendment of the committee to pay to the Central and Southern Pacific Railway companies about $500,000 for service to the war department in 1885 and 1886 (on the land-granted lines) reopened the discussion on the subject of Pacific railways. McPherson objected to any recognition of the lease of the Central Pacific to the Southern Pacific.

Hale and Edmunds supported the amendment on the ground that the question had been passed upon by the supreme court in favor of the companies.

Stanford denied the statements of McPherson as to the business of the Central Pacific being diverted from the Union Pacific, and asserted that the latter company had less competition from the Southern Pacific than it would have if the Southern were in other hands.

Finally, a vote was taken on a motion by McPherson to strike out the words "or the Southern Pacific company, as assignee of the Central Pacific Railway company," and the motion was defeated—yeas [illegible], nays [illegible].

The committee's amendment was agreed to. The [illegible] amendments for the Central and Southern Pacific railroads, which are governed by the action of the senate on the amendment, aggregated about $[illegible],000.

Edmunds objected to an amendment to pay certain awards of the court of claims amounting to [illegible] on French spoliation claims. He said that congress had never yet admitted any legal or moral liability to pay these claims and he thought it [illegible] improper to have congress [illegible] the matter by [illegible] these items in the deficiency bill, where they had no business at all. The amendment was agreed to.

REPORTS BY HALE.

Hale at 5:30 A. M. made a conference report on the naval appropriations bill and explained the report. Appropriations in the bill now (in addition [illegible] running expenses of the department) amounted [illegible] over $[illegible] for what [illegible] the new establishment and increase of the navy. It comprehended four new vessels [illegible] were appropriated for [illegible] for harbor defenses; $[illegible] for various vessels already begun, a little more than $[illegible] for work on monitors and $[illegible] for armor plate and gun steel. The report was agreed to and at 4:30 A. M. the bill passed.

At one o'clock Plumb from the conference committee on the District of Columbia appropriation bill reported that the committee had been unable to agree. He moved that the senate insist on its disagreement and ask a further conference. So ordered.

He also presented a conference report on the bill for relief of settlers and purchasers of public lands in Kansas and Nebraska. Agreed to.

Also a conference report on the postoffice appropriation bill, the senate receding from the senate item for mail steamer service to South America. Agreed to.

DEFICIENCY BILL PASSED.

[illegible] $[illegible] 00. The amount of a judgment of the supreme court at the October term, 1886.

Finally the bill and amendments were reported to the senate.

On demand of McPherson the yeas and nays were taken on one of the Pacific railroad amendments and it was agreed to—yeas 27, nays 17. The yeas and nays were also taken on the amendment for the French spoliation claims, and it was agreed to—yeas 34, nays 12.

Morgan moved to insert a provision for fifty copyists for the pension office and made an affecting appeal on behalf of many respectable educated but poor women who are seeking government employment in Washington but cannot get it under the civil service rules. After discussion the motion was laid on the table—yeas 27, nays 16.

Finally at 5:10 o'clock the bill was passed, and a message to that effect was sent to the house.

Allison presented a conference report on the legislative, executive and judicial bill, an agreement being reached on all points except as to clerks to senators. He moved that the senate insist. So ordered.

Other house bills were then taken from the calendar and passed, of minor importance.

The senate at 6 A. M. went into secret session.

AFTER RECESS.

The doors were reopened at 10 A. M., the senate having in the meanwhile taken two hours recess. The first business done was the presentation by Ingalls of a conference report on the District of Columbia appropriation bill. The report was read and agreed to.

The next business was the presentation by Dawes of a conference report on the fortification bill. It stated that the conferees had not been able to agree. Dawes said it was with infinite regret that the senate conferees were obliged to make this report. They had conceded very much in order to reach a conclusion and to save the essence and vitality of the measure needed to protect the country. The fortifications plan which they had submitted to the committee was expressed in the [illegible] bill, which he would have printed in the Record, and along with it he would have printed the plan submitted at the last moment by the house conferees. The country would judge between the propositions and decide where the blame lay for the failure by this congress to do anything towards the inauguration of some efficient system for fortifications. The irreconcilable difference between the senate managers and the house managers was on the question of purchasing steel for the purpose of making steel guns of the largest type. The question might be summed up in one sentence, whether steel guns should be subordinate to cast-iron guns.

A STATEMENT BY HAWLEY.

Hawley, another of the conferees, said he desired to emphasize this most extraordinary condition of affairs. There was no fortification bill for the current year nor for the next year. So far as concerned armament, coast defenses and heavy guns were concerned nothing whatever had been done. There was no money to cut the grass along the parapets of the forts, or to buy shingles or nails for old sheds and dwellings of forts—not one solitary cent. Work was stopped and all property at the forts was left to rack and ruin for the coming two years. The simple statement of that fact was a most extraordinary indictment of somebody. He had no doubt whatever that if the whole subject could have been left open for full and free determination of congress something would have been done which would have been a credit to the country. So far as the senate was concerned the Record would show that the debates and votes on both sides of the chamber had been fully up to the popular demand.

Just before adjournment the enrolled District of Columbia appropriation bill was passed and sent to the president for signature, but the conference report on the deficiency bill was too late to be reported and died.

A resolution of thanks to the presiding officer was adopted, and after a report had been received from the president stating that he had no further communications to present, the senate was declared adjourned.

CONFIRMATIONS.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The senate confirmed the following nominations: Arthur K. Delaney of Wisconsin, to be collector of customs for the district of Alaska; Capt. A. A. Greely, to be brigadier general; James M. Trotter, to be recorder of deeds for the District of Columbia; Henry R. Harris of Georgia, to be third assistant postmaster general; Dabney H. Maury of Virginia, to be minister to the republic of Colombia; Geo. W. Julian of Indiana, to be surveyor-general of New Mexico; Thos. W. Burchinell of Leadville, Col., to be receiver of public moneys at Leadville; Monroe F. Allison of Grand Junction, Col., to be receiver of public moneys at Gunnison, Col.; David K. Gillis, to be commodore in the navy; Commander James O'Kane of Indiana, to be captain in the navy; Lieutenant Commander John McGowan, to be commander in the navy.

REJECTED.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The following nominations were rejected by the senate committee this morning: Oliver Shannon of North Platte, Neb., to be receiver of public moneys at that place; Chas. [illegible] Daily of Tucson, A. T., to be register of the land office at that place.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—At a late hour last night Blount of Georgia reported further disagreement of the conference committee on the postoffice appropriation bill.

Bingham of Pennsylvania moved that the house recede from its disagreement to the senate amendment relative to the compensation for the carrying of foreign mails to South and Central America, known as the subsidy amendment; lost—yeas [illegible], nays [illegible]. A further conference was ordered.

Tucker of Virginia, from the committee on judiciary, submitted a report upon the resolution requiring that committee to inquire whether a treaty which involves the rate of duty to be imposed on any imported article can be valid or binding without the concurrence of the house of representatives. The report is very voluminous, treating of the legal and constitutional features of the question, and recommends the adoption of the following resolutions:

First—That the president by and with the advice and consent of the senate cannot negotiate a treaty which shall be binding on the United States whereby the duties on imports are to be regulated, either by imposing or remitting, increasing or decreasing them, without the sanction of an act of congress, and that an extension of time for the operation of the original treaty or convention with the government of the Hawaiian Islands will not be binding on the United States without like sanction, which was provided for in the original treaty and convention, and was given by act of congress.

Second—That the president is respectfully requested to withhold final action upon the proposed convention and the conclusion of its final ratification until the sanction of an act of congress in respect of the duties upon articles to be imported from the Hawaiian Islands.

The report and resolutions were laid over and ordered printed.

At 5 A. M. Struble of Iowa called up the veto message of the president on the senate bill for the erection of a public building at Sioux City, Ia. The house refused—yeas [illegible], nays [illegible]—to pass the bill over the veto, not the constitutional two thirds in the affirmative.

Herbert of North Carolina, from the committee of conference, reported on the naval appropriation bill. After some debate in the course of which Boutelle of Maine criticised the action of the committee on naval affairs for failure to make any appropriation for the completion of the Atlanta, the Boston and the Chicago, the report was agreed to.

A conference report on the bill regulating the removal of causes from the state and federal courts submitted by Culberson of Texas was agreed to.

Nelson of Minnesota moved to suspend the rules and pass the bill granting to the Clark's Fork and Cooke City railroad company right of way through the Crow reservation in Montana. Agreed to and the bill passed.

AN AGREEMENT.

[illegible] Blount of Georgia announced that the conference committee on the postoffice appropriation bill had reached an agreement by the recession of the senate conferees from the subsidy amendment. The report was agreed to, thus disposing of the bill finally.

The [illegible] bill came from the senate about [illegible]. It was explained that the point of difference remaining between the houses was an item for secretaries for senators.

Holman moved that the house recede from its disagreement to the senatorial amendment.

Holman's motion received a majority vote but [illegible] made a point of no quorum which continued the time until 7:30, when his opposition was withdrawn and a motion declared carried passing the legislative appropriation bill.

Although the deficiency bill had not reached the house, on motion of Long of Massachusetts the [illegible] amendments to the bill were non-concurred in, and the speaker authorized to appoint a conference committee.

A conference report on the bill amending section [illegible] of the revised statutes was agreed to.

[illegible] of Missouri [illegible] the following resolution, which was adopted by a standing vote:

"Resolved, That the thanks of the house are hereby tendered to Hon. John G. Carlisle, speaker, for the courtesy, ability and fairness with which he has presided over the deliberations of the Forty-ninth congress."

[illegible] ON THE FORTIFICATIONS BILL.

Forney of Alabama from the committee of conference on the fortification bill reported continued disagreement.

Randall of Pennsylvania stated that the senate bill involved the expenditure of forty millions, while the house bill, which a majority of the house conferees was willing to adopt, appropriated seventeen millions. He obtained leave to have the two measures printed in the Record in order that the country might judge between them.

Butterworth of Ohio regretted that congress must adjourn without taking a step forward in the direction of providing coast defenses. The failure to agree he attributed to the delay in the conferees coming together.

Reed of Maine criticised the position of the house conferees [illegible] the manufacture of forgings and [illegible] of steel guns.

Butterworth [illegible] that this was an entire mistake. The house conferees had agreed to an appropriation for steel guns and he declared there was not a word of truth in what the gentleman said.

Reed reiterated his statement, arguing that under the provisions of the house bill steel guns could not be manufactured.

The report was accepted and the bill died.

Burnes of Missouri presented a conference report on the general deficiency bill and it was agreed to. It contained the provision for the completion of four steel cruisers but omits the appropriation for the payment of the Central Pacific and Choctaw claims.

In order to enable the bill to reach the president before noon the hands of the clock were turned back ten minutes.

The president reported through a communication that he had no further communication to make to congress, and Speaker Carlisle after thanking the members for the courtesy they had shown him declared the house adjourned.

THE CLOSING HOURS.

The Galleries Crowded with Spectators—The President has to Unbend and go to the Capitol.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—At 6 o'clock this morning the effects of the sixteen hour session were visible in the appearance of remnants of documents and reports. The atmosphere in the house was very impure and oppressive and was well impregnated with tobacco smoke, notwithstanding the repeated appeals of the speaker to members to [illegible] in them to observe the rule which prohibited smoking on the floor. As early as 7 o'clock spectators began to occupy the galleries and an hour before the expiration of the Forty-ninth congress by limitation at least 200 persons were present.

MAHOMET GOES TO THE MOUNTAIN.

It was understood up to a late hour of the forenoon that the president would not occupy his room at the capitol as has been the custom of his predecessors, but nevertheless he came, being influenced doubtless to some extent by messages sent to him from members of both branches. Speaker Carlisle telephoned at 10 A. M. that the president's presence was necessary to save the District of Columbia and deficiency bills, which could not be enrolled in time to reach the White house nearly two miles away. Senators Sherman and Saulsbury appointed at 11 o'clock a committee on the part of the senate to notify the president that congress awaited any final message he might have to send, and caused it to be made known they would perform their duty by going to the president's room at the capitol, and if they did not find him there would report the fact to the senate, assuming that he had no further communications to make.

THE CLOCKS SET BACK.

The president and cabinet reached the capitol at 11 o'clock actual time. The clocks of the two houses were set back and the senate adjourned without day at 11:55 A. M., senate time—12:04 actual time.

THE PRESIDENT'S RECORD.

What he has Done in two Years in the Way of Appointments.

NEW YORK, March 3.—To-day closes the first half of Cleveland's administration and the Tribune marks the occasion by printing in a nine column article a record of the doings of the administration for the past two years. The president has removed, suspended and called for the resignations of more public officials and more officials of admitted worth and fitness than any other president in American history. More than half the officials in the public service exclusive of the army and navy have within two years been changed, while appointments in place of officers whose terms have expired, as far as can be ascertained, seem not to be more than a third of the whole number made. In one department alone the official statement shows that in one fiscal year 27,000 appointments were made, and other information seems to justify the conclusion that 50,000 persons in all departments have been appointed, which is equal to one every six minutes throughout every working day since March 4, 1885.

The unavoidable consequence of haste in selecting 50,000 men untried in public service is that many unworthy persons have been chosen. But the number of mistakes made by President Cleveland is surprising and many are peculiarly offensive. Omitting those cases in which charges have been refuted, the Tribune finds that its list embraces the following: Jail birds who had been indicted or convicted for various crimes, 59; others concerned in political crimes, 10; deserters, 7; expelled from United States senate, 1; disqualified for office for violation of oaths, 3; total 70. Besides these law breakers another appointee not indicted was guilty of gross assault and of wife beating. One was a police officer discharged for brutality to a woman. Three were tools of persons so disreputable that they could not hold office themselves. Three others were shortly found concerned in land jobs and one was editor of the rogues' flash paper. These eighty four may be reckoned with the criminal class, but embrace only cases which have become of public notoriety. Others not mentioned are known in almost every part of the country. Besides all these above enumerated twenty six others had violated the law as rebels against the government, but more than one-third of President Cleveland's appointees, it is probable, are of that class. Six more were either liquor sellers or attorneys for the liquor interest, who were nevertheless appointed to enforce the internal revenue laws. Scandals in the cabinet and in the diplomatic service are also noted and ten cases of flagrant nepotism are also mentioned.

THE NAVAL BILL.

Provisions of the Measure as Finally Approved by the President.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The naval appropriation bill as agreed upon in conference carried the same appropriation for next year for increase of the navy as was contained in the original house bill, but there are some differences in the objects of the expenditures. Two of the gunboats provided for in the house bill have been omitted, as well as a torpedo boat, and the item for the purchase of Ericsson's Destroyer, inserted by the senate, was also dropped.

In its present shape the bill makes provision for two cruisers larger than the Newark and faster than nineteen knots, with a premium for any excess of speed, and two gunboats of the pattern of gunboat No. 1. There are also two coast defense vessels not to exceed $2,000,000, and for the beginning of this construction $1,000,000 is appropriated. Their design, dimensions and speed are to be prescribed by the secretary of the navy. For torpedoes $50,000 is allowed, and the provision for the naval war college is excluded.

Other changes made in the house bill are unimportant, not amounting in all to more than $100,000.

The secretary of the navy is authorized to readvertise for the construction of cruiser No. 1 (the Newark) and the limit of cost is extended to $1,300,000, exclusive of armament. The limit of cost for two [illegible] cruisers is fixed at $[illegible],000,000, half of which sum is appropriated by the bill. Fifty thousand dollars is appropriated for the purchase and trial of torpedoes to be immediately available. The sum of $[illegible] is appropriated towards the construction of double turreted monitors. Towards the armament of the vessels provided for in the acts of 1885 and 1886 and the unfinished monitors $[illegible] is appropriated. Towards the procuring and testing of armor and gun steel for [illegible] vessels authorized by the acts of [illegible] the unfinished monitors and the vessels authorized by this act $[illegible],000 is appropriated.

CONGRESSIONAL NEWS ITEMS.

MEASURES THAT FAILED.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The river and harbor bill failed to receive the president's signature. It reached him several days ago, but was "pocket vetoed."

The following bills passed both houses, but as they were not signed by the president they failed to become laws: Claim of W. H. Emery, $[illegible]; bill to restore Capt. Alfred Hedberg, Fifteenth Infantry, to the army; bill relating to promotion in the medical corps; bill to prevent employment of alien labor; bill to open the strip of land south of [illegible] to settlement; bill providing a method for settlement of controversies between interstate railroad corporations; bill to annex part of Idaho to Washington territory; bill for [illegible] maps of the general land offices, and a number of private relief bills.

The deficiency bill failed for want of time to engross it and the fortifications bill was abandoned in conference.

APPROVED BY THE PRESIDENT.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Before leaving for the capitol to-day the president signed the bill providing for the reserve fund of national banks and the [illegible] of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bills; the bills making appropriations for the District of Columbia; for the adjustment of railroad land grants and the forfeiture of unearned lands; to provide for the expenses of investigations ordered by the senate during the session; granting the [illegible] Railroad company a right of way through the Uncompahgre and Uintah reservation in Utah and granting the [illegible] Fork and Cooke City Railroad company a right of way through part of the Crow Indian reservation in Montana.

The president also approved the bill appropriating $[illegible],000 for the purchase of a site for the San Francisco postoffice.

PROBABILITY OF A SPECIAL SESSION.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—It is said at the White house that there is no probability of a special session of the senate being called by the president for the purpose of acting on the nominations or any other purpose. The interstate commission and a successor to Secretary Manning will probably be appointed next week or the week following.

WORK OF THE SESSION

A Concise Statement of Measures that were Considered.

A LIST OF IMPORTANT NEW LAWS.

Also of Bills that were Vetoed, Bills that Died in Conference, and Bills that Passed One House Only.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The congress which ended its existence at noon to-day has afforded a striking illustration of the constant increase in the volume of legislation demanding the attention of congress, which has been going on for the last three or four congresses. More bills were introduced into both houses, more committee reports were made, more bills passed, more laws enacted and more were vetoed than ever before. [illegible] of these measures were of comparatively small importance, such as increase of and grant of pensions, private pensions and special relief bills, and the erection of bridges, granting rights of way and the like, but many not only of the bills and reports presented but of the laws enacted were of general interest and importance. A number of bills enacted into laws were old and familiar candidates for legislative favors. In this category belong the presidential succession bill, the electoral count bill, the interstate commerce bill and the bill for the relief of Fitz John Porter.

RECORD OF THE SESSION.

The forty ninth congress commenced its first session on the 7th day of December 1885 and remained in session until the 5th of August, when it adjourned until December, and continued in session until the close to-day, covering a total period of [illegible] and twenty six days. Of this time the [illegible] in session [illegible] days and the house [illegible] days. There were introduced in the house during the [illegible] 11,26[illegible] bills and 263 joint resolutions, upon which [illegible] reports were made, being over [illegible] more bills and over [illegible] more reports than were made in the forty-eighth congress, which in its turn beaten the record. In the senate there were introduced 3,[illegible] bills and 1[illegible] joint resolutions, on which [illegible] written reports were made, being upwards of 600 bills and over 400 more reports than in the record of the forty-eighth congress.

The total number of laws enacted was approximated at 1,3[illegible]2, of which 1,093 originated in the house and [illegible]8 in the senate. Two hundred and [illegible] of these became laws by expiration and [illegible] bills failed to become laws owing to the adjournment of congress, one of them in [illegible] the close of the first session. There were [illegible] bills vetoed by the president, and 21 more in [illegible] the exercise of the presidential prerogative of the veto than had occurred from the foundation of the government down to the beginning of this congress. Of the vetoed bills 94 originated in the house and 38 in the senate. But one private bill, that granting a pension to Joseph Romeiser, and one public bill, namely, that providing for the erection of a government building at Dayton, Ohio, succeeded in passing both houses over the president's veto, although several others obtained the requisite two third vote in the senate only to fail in the house.

The death roll of this congress was also an extraordinary one, comprising the unprecedented number of thirteen names in the house and senate.

But one election case was decided by the house against the sitting member and the congress was characterized by an absence of the acrimonious discussion which such contests usually [illegible]. The Rhode Island case, in which it was decided that neither Page nor Pierce was entitled to the seat and a new election ordered, was one instance of a seat being taken from the sitting member.

Of the 1063 house bills which became laws [illegible] were of a more or less public nature. Of the remaining 788 bills granting pensions or relief to specially designated persons 1[illegible]6 became laws without the approval of the president.

A "POCKET VETO"

The failure of the president to sign the river and harbor appropriation bill passed by congress is a hard blow to the Northwest. The hope of the country was centered upon this measure, and disappointment at its failure will amount to positive chagrin. The bill was in the way of carrying out a settled policy of the government. It was made up in every detail with the advice of competent and disinterested engineers It was long and carefully considered, and was amended in both branches of congress Its totals were below the average of appropriation bills for river and harbor work. There was no reasonable objection to it. The president, who has never visited the regions specially interested, and who knows nothing of the needs of the country in the matter of river and harbor improvement, in defeating this bill assumed to be wiser than the engineers, congress and the people together His failure to set forth the ground of his disapproval and to give congress the opportunity contemplated by the constitution to act solely upon its own judgment, was an arrogant act, unworthy of a man in high authority The country has the right to expect from the president sober and rational action, and it has always a right to know his objections to any vetoed measure In this matter he has disappointed expectations entirely just.

The government has undertaken here and elsewhere certain works essential to the development and prosperity of the country and it ought to prosecute them in a business-like way The method of peace-meal with long intervals of suspension is wasteful and foolish to the last degree Not only does it unreasonably postpone public works and hinder the development of the country, but it adds at least fifty per cent. to the cost of every improvement. The canal at the cascades of the Columbia, for example, is now but half done, whereas if the amount expended up to date had been provided in lump or in regular and sufficient installments, it would have been completed half a dozen years ago The government should either carry out its professed policy or quit. The country is weary to disgust with this pottering foolery.

The national treasury is bursting with money which comes in without effort or hardship to anybody. So exceeding prosperous are the national finances that the great political question of the time is how to limit the public income. This adds to the vexation of an act which nothing seems to justify. There is no sense in refusing to spend a small part at least of the surplus revenues of the country upon works, already begun under a policy fully approved by the people, admitted to be of the highest public utility

If it is proposed to take up the states rights doctrine and to abandon the policy of aid to public works, let the fact be announced so that we may know what to expect. The country is tired of professions forever contradicted as to performance, tired of a policy whose results are disappointment and chagrin

AN ABSURD CLAIM

We are unable to see where Mr Gerdes (or whoever prompts him) finds ground for the claim, asserted in the resolutions introduced into the council Wednesday night, that the water works are 'under the jurisdiction of the mayor and common council" The act of the legislature creating the water commission authorizes the city of Portland to construct or purchase, maintain, etc, a system of water works, and declares specifically that the power and authority thus given to the city shall be exercised by the water committee There is nothing in the act to support the claim put forth by Mr Gerdes The water committee and the common council have their commissions from the same source, the state legislature, and neither can reasonably assume authority over the other

Mr. Gerdes's claim rests, according to his resolutions, upon the fact that the bills of sale of the water works are in the name of the city. He forgets that the engines, horses, etc, of the fire department belong to the city, but that the council has no authority in the matter of their management. The police commission controls a good deal of city property without authority from or consideration of the council Mr Gerdes ought to bear these familiar facts in mind It does not follow by any means because certain property belongs to the city that it is subject to the authority of the mayor and council

The resolutions were intended simply to promote a quarrel and to make a scandal. There is a persistent effort to make sentiment against the committee, and its purpose is the transfer of the water department to the field of local politics. Gerdes and others (well knowing the value of liquids in politics) would like to make the water department a feature in the political machine, and are striving to bring about a change to this end Their plan, in which they look for support from some very respectable gentlemen whose purposes are personal rather than political, is to keep up a cackle against the committee and to make an impression that its management is bad.

This effort should be understood by the public for just what it is We have no wish to appear as the champion of the committee, but there can be no question that its conduct has been both prudent and honest. The sale of bonds, the purchase of materials, etc., which have been made subjects of criticism, it is only fair to say, have been conducted upon business principles, with honesty and propriety in all respects

IS THE INDIAN RACE DYING OUT?

An interesting and valuable article on the Indian population of the United States, past and present, is furnished by a Washington correspondent of the New York Times It tends to disprove the commonly received opinion that the Indian race is dying out, and indeed leads to grave doubt whether the Indian population of the United States taken as a whole, is not as large now as it was a century ago

The Indian population of the territory occupied by the original colonists certainly was not large. Jefferson, in his "Notes on Virginia," published in 1787, gave all the information he could collect as to the original Indian population of that state He showed that a census, taken in 1669, gave the population of the aborigines of Virginia as including but 800 warriors. The proportion of warriors was about 3 to 10 to their whole population, so that there were then less than 2000 Indians left of the Powhatan confederacy that Capt. John Smith 60 years earlier estimated as numbering 5000 people. Already the tribes of the confederation had been driven westward across the mountains to wider hunting grounds They had lost their tribal names.

In writing about the Indians beyond Virginia, and occupying what is now Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, and the then far country still further west, Jefferson relied upon the information obtained from four different lists The first was given in 1759 to Gen Stanwix by George Croghan, deputy agent of Indian affairs under Sir William Johnson, the second was drawn up by "a French trader of considerable note," resident among the Indians many years, and annexed to Col. Bouquet's printed account of his expedition in 1764. The third was made out by Capt. Hutchins, who visited most of the tribes, by order, in 1768, "or the purpose of learning their numbers. The fourth was furnished by John Dodge, an Indian trader, in 1779. It is probable, as the writer in the Times says, that none of the lists was complete It is possible that none of the authorities mentioned learned of all the tribes or nations. The Indians themselves were in many cases relied upon or estimates of the number of their own tribes and the tribes of their neighbors or enemies. Assuming that some of the Southern or Southwestern and far Northwestern tribes did not find mention at all, it is plain enough, by a comparison of old with recent lists, that all of the nations and tribes that are now most important in point of numbers were then also numerically strong Jefferson's census footed up 69,040, and it included the names of all the Southern and all the Western tribes of any note, as far as the Mississippi and Missouri rivers. Our Indian bureau now states the population of the tribes not enumerated in Jefferson's list at 125,040, and the whole Indian population of the country at 247,761 Undoubtedly Jefferson's authorities knew little about many of the minor tribes mentioned by them, and they omitted many others altogether that now are included within the limits of the United States but they included all the well known and powerful tribes, and credited them with large numbers.

Since Jefferson's time many of the small tribes mentioned by him have quite disappeared, either through total extinction or absorption into others but it is certain that most of the great tribes have largely increased. This is especially true of the Sioux and cognate tribes, and of the Indian territory Since 1874 the Indian bureau has kept a register of births and deaths among the tribes cared for by the government, and the gain of births over deaths has been many thousands

Had the Indians been very numerous the early settlers could not have obtained a footing in the country as they did, nor could a great many Indians have subsisted in a mode of life where industry was practically unknown and wars with each other were very frequent. In the great valley of the Mississippi the Indian population certainly was quite insignificant. Statistics of the Indian bureau go to show that when peace and subsistence are assured, the Indian population will increase, and though many tribes have been exterminated in the march of the whites across the continent, still the protection that has been assured by the whites to those that have adopted peaceful ways has caused them to multiply, and those who have given the subject much attention fairly question whether the Indian population during a century past has not on the whole increased, rather than diminished.

THE NEXT CONGRESS.

The Forty ninth congress expired at noon yesterday, and with it expired the best chance of the democracy to have made victory sure for themselves in 1888. Inferior to the republicans in ability the democracy in the Forty-ninth congress had an excellent majority, but it was inharmonious, and effected nothing upon which the party could go before the public full of that confidence which a sound record inspires To be sure the senate was republican but the senate was not disposed to be obstructive in its action in matters of important legislation The house made the trade dollar bill an inflation act, the house was eager to pass the pauper pension bill, the house gave no heed to the urgent appeal of the administration to stop the coinage of the silver dollar and to reduce the surplus revenue by tariff revision and revenue reform The oleomargarine bill was a measure founded on a vicious principle of legislation, the act providing for retaliation and reprisals in the matter of the Canadian fishery disputes is one of questionable wisdom. The discretion of the president can probably be trusted to make the law harmless for injury to our own interests, but it is not easy to see the necessity of so sweeping and ill-guarded a measure. It looks like a bit of demagogue effort to make political capital with the "jingo" party in this country. The inter state commerce bill was wisely suffered to become a law, because only by trial can we tell what to do and how to do it in this new and important field of legislation. Blair's educational bill did not become a law, for which the country has reason to be grateful. The states, South and North, are amply able to educate their illiterates, but if we once begin subsidizing states into doing their duty in the matter of providing their poor with common schools the states will never do their duty but will always shirk they will lean on the government constantly instead of upholding the government. The Blair bill is vicious in principle and deserved its fate The electoral count bill and the presidential succession bill were needed measures and the fact that they both became laws is among the most creditable acts of the Forty-ninth congress. The law providing for the erection of a soldiers' home west of the Rocky mountains is timely and entirely just legislation for the relief of the disabled Union veterans.

But the good acts of the forty ninth congress are but very few compared with its flagrant sins of omission and commission Its legislation on the subject of river and harbor appropriations was not discriminate, its passage of the Mexican war pension bill was without defense, and it ought to have been vetoed by President Cleveland as promptly as he vetoed the pauper pension bill, for it was an equally sweeping and unguarded enactment in its terms The national bankrupt bill received no consideration, and the postal telegraph bill never succeeded in reaching a vote The excellent bill of Senator Beck to prohibit members of congress from acting as the paid attorneys of corporations in cases that are likely to become subjects of conflict between the people and the corporations on the floor of congress was beaten by the senate. The subjects of tariff and the currency received no consideration worthy of their consequence. Civil service reform got no hurt, because it is out of harm's way If with a majority of forty-three in the forty-ninth congress the democrats were unable to agree upon a bill for tariff reduction what hope is for them in the fiftieth congress, in which the democrats have only about fifteen majority? Not only is the party's working majority greatly to be reduced in the fiftieth congress, but it will be a weaker body than the forty ninth Morrison, Willis, Hewitt, Randolph Tucker, Singleton, Reagan, Warner, Curtin, Aiken, Throckmorton and Bragg, are among the able democrats of the forty ninth congress who will not be in the fiftieth congress To fill their places there are but three new men of decided legislative ability and commensurate experience, viz S S Cox of New York, Chas R. Buckalew of Pennsylvania and John E Russell of Massachusetts The republicans lose Ranney of Massachusetts Anderson of Kansas and James and Hiscock of New York. Among the new republican members that will bring good brains to the fiftieth congress are Lodge of Massachusetts and S V White, the famous Wall street banker and broker White was originally trained for the bar is a good thinker and a speaker and a strong political partisan The leaders of the next congress on the democratic side will be Carlisle Randall and Cox, who are fully matched on the republican side by Reed of Maine McKinley of Ohio and Long of Massachusetts Among the new republican members will be A P Hovey of Indiana who was a brigadier general of volunteers under Grant and Sherman all through the war

Mr. Cleveland has not done himself credit in the closing days of the session. He has been unreasonable, stubborn and arrogant. His silly refusal to attend upon the senate yesterday forenoon was made ludicrous by his appearance in the nick of time to save the bill providing for the expenses of the White house kitchen. Other presidents, bigger and better men than Mr. Cleveland, have not deemed it a violation of the presidential dignity to be where they were needed when they were needed.

The failure of the fortification appropriation bill, which died in conference committee, will be regretted by the country With a defenseless coast, a treasury filled to overflowing with money and with a public sentiment in favor of adequate protection, we are unable to act because an indolent congress puts off all really important business till the last hour We are left one resource, however. If attacked by a foreign navy we can take to the brush.

The bill to annex the northern counties of Idaho to Washington territory has failed through the dereliction of the president. It was a measure of the highest importance, approved by all parties in interest and it is an outrage that, having run the gauntlet of congress, it should be defeated by the president's neglect.

Sheriff Jordan ought to be able to find a jailer with sense enough to keep the door locked, or he might hire an assistant jailer. He is sufficiently well paid to employ all the men required.

BILLS VETOED

Senate bills vetoed were thirty nine in number eleven being of public and twenty eight of a private character The public bills vetoed were as follows To quiet titles of settlers on the Des Moines river lands (passed over the veto in the senate, but failed of the necessary two thirds in the house) For the erection of public buildings at Zanesville Ohio Lafayette Ind Sioux City, Iowa Dayton, Ohio, (passed over the veto in both houses) and Lynn, Mass. To extend the provisions of the immediate transportation act to Nebraska. To grant railroads right of way through Indian reservation in Northern Montana.

The 93 house bills vetoed included 87 private bills and six bills of a public nature Public bills vetoed were for the erection of federal buildings at Springfield Mo, Duluth Minn Asheville, N C and Portsmouth Ohio to distribute $10 000 worth of seeds among drought-stricken people of Texas and to grant pensions to dependent soldiers and dependent relatives of deceased soldiers. An effort made to pass the dependent pension bill over the veto failed

DEAD APPROPRIATION BILLS

The regular appropriation bills which failed of enactment were the fortification bill for both congresses the river and harbor bill for the present session (which was not signed by the president, and the deficiency bill, on which the conference report was not submitted in time for action The failure of the fortifications bill was due to decided differences of opinion between the conferees of the two houses

Fifty bills, in addition to those which became laws and those vetoed were sent to the president but were 'pocketed' by him on adjournment of congress and therefore failed The most important are as follows River and harbor to prevent the employment of convict and alien labor on public works to open to public settlement the land strip south of Kansas the O Neill labor arbitration bill for settlement of controversies between interstate railroads and their employes the Morrison surplus resolution to annex a part of Idaho to Washington territory for holding terms of court at Duluth, Minn, and Corinth Miss.

The Northern Pacific forfeiture bill and the bill to repeal the pre-emption timber-culture and desert land laws, were in conference for a long while but the differences proved irreconcilable

The bill to tax fractional parts of a gallon of spirits was killed by the refusal of the house to accept the conference report, while the bill to create a department of agriculture and labor was killed by the inability of its friends to send it to the conference committee

HOUSE BILLS LOST IN THE SENATE.

About 150 bills and joint resolutions which passed the house failed of action in the senate some of which, however, were defeated by adverse committee reports The more important of these bills are as follows To establish a sub treasury at Louisville Ky (adversely reported from the senate committee) to authorize the establishment of expert tobacco manufactories, for a drawback upon imported articles used in manufacturing exported tobacco to terminate certain Chinese treaty stipulations and prohibit Chinese immigration into the United States

About one hundred and fifty bills passed by the senate failed of passage in the house The Blair educational bill after passing the senate, was buffetted about from one committee to another in the house and was never allowed to come before the house for action although its friends claimed a decided majority in its favor on a test vote The Cameron Hale twin bills appropriating $45 000 000 for increase of the navy were sent to the naval committee and died there, although a provision for additional vessels was inserted in the naval appropriation bills The twin fortification bills which passed the senate were allowed to sleep in the house appropriations-committee room.

The McAdoo fortifications bill reported by the house military commission never received action by the house The Dakota admission bill still lies on the house calendar The bill for admission of Washington territory failed for house action Also the bill to grant Dearborn park to the city of Chicago the Eads bill the Nicaragua canal bill the bill changing the date of inauguration day and the bill to reimburse Freedmen's bank depositors

BILLS THAT PASSED NEITHER HOUSE

The following measures of nominal importance failed of action of an affirmative nature in either house Morrison's and other tariff bills which the house on a test vote refused even to consider Various bills on the silver question (Both branches of congress exhaustively discussed this topic but no action was taken in the senate The house passed no measure on the subject but contented itself with voting down propositions for free silver coinage and for the suspension of silver coinage Pacific railroad funding bills extending the period of payment were favorably reported from the committee of each house but never reached action in either To establish a uniform bankruptcy law (The history in each house is almost identical with that of the Pacific funding bill) The Hennepin canal bill the Oklahoma bill and the Dunn free ship bill were all reported from house committees and all failed to get beyond the stage of general debate Bill to repeal the civil service law, and to grant women suffrage were killed in the house by adverse committee reports and in the senate by adverse test votes A resolution favoring open executive sessions was defeated in the senate Resolutions to carry the Mexican treaty into effect and abrogate the Hawaiian treaty are also to be noted among failures of the Forty ninth congress the former being killed by an adverse committee report and the latter failing to secure an audience The postal telegraph bill and the international copyright bill were also not enacted

Owing to the failure of the deficiency bill, the recent act of congress extending the free delivery system to cities and towns having not less than 10 000 inhabitants or a postal revenue of not less than $10 000 becomes inoperative until the beginning of the next fiscal year when the regular appropriation act goes into effect.

NEW FAST MAIL POSTAL SERVICE.

An Arrangement of Great Benefit to the Entire West.

WASHINGTON March 4 —The postmaster general has made arrangements for a fast mail service between the East and Southwest. Heretofore the fast mail leaving New York at 7 30 has arrived at St. Louis by passenger train on the second morning in time only to reach Kansas City the second evening By the new arrangement a special train of postal cars on the Pennsylvania line will reach St. Louis at 7 45 A. M., and mail will be transferred at once to a special train of postal cars on the Missouri Pacific, which will leave St. Louis at 8 and arrive at Kansas City at 11 in the morning It is expected that the outgoing morning trains from Kansas City to Colorado, Mexico New Mexico, Arizona Southern California Southern Kansas, Arkansas Indian territory, Texas and the Southwest generally and up the Missouri to Omaha will delay departure and take mail on arrival of the fast train at Kansas City

The value of the change will be more apparent from noticing the saving of time effected in the delivery of Eastern mail at some of the prominent points At Sedalia and generally in Southwestern Missouri the gain is above eight hours and at Kansas City it is eight and a half hours. Practically at these points the gain is a full business day mail arriving in the morning instead of the evening The gain is also in effect a day at St. Joseph Atchison, Leavenworth, Lawrence Topeka and other towns in Eastern and southern Kansas. The arrangement also enables transcontinental mail for Mexico and southern California to secure earlier connections, so that substantially a full day's gain of 24 hours is secured at Denver Cheyenne, Laramie Ogden El Paso City of Mexico San Francisco southern California and other points on these lines

The new provision will begin with the train leaving New York on Saturday night the [illegible] of March and the service will be a daily one

In view of this expedition of southwest mail and the increased desirability of this service to business at New York the departure of mail has been delayed half an hour at New York—from 8 30 to 9 o'clock in the evening—so as to take all mail mailed in boxes as late as 8 30

INFERNAL CHEMICALS.

A Plot to Burn a Depot and Ferry Boat—One Man Arrested

JERSEY CITY March 4 —Last night the Pennsylvania depot janitors saw a strange man go into the toilet room off the smoking room a few minutes after 12 o clock. They followed him in and immediately saw the neck of a bottle protruding from behind the door He picked the bottle up and smelled of it The odor strongly resembled that of phosphorus He put it down again and it exploded setting fire to the wood work Anderson one of the janitors cried Fire and threw a plank over the flames to smother them The stranger cooly remarked 'Let it alone it will go out of itself Don t make such a fuss about a little matter

One of the depot attaches came to Anderson's assistance with a chemical extinguisher and put the fire out without its having done serious damage In the mean time the stranger disappeared A description of him resulted in his arrest on the Cortlandt street ferryboat This morning he was arraigned in the police court and remanded for further hearing having told a number of contradictory stories in regard to himself It has since been discovered that he is an upholsterer who was discharged from the service of the Pennsylvania company in the shops on the Hackensack meadows about six months ago, since which time he has been working at odd jobs He declares that he knows nothing about the explosion

About 3 o'clock this morning while the porter on the Cortlandt street ferryboat of the Pennsylvania railroad was sprinkling the ladies cabin, another explosion occurred Water coming in contact with some chemicals under the seats near the paddle wheel caused the explosion The flames were quickly extinguished. Last night about 8 o'clock the wheelman found a bottle in the same spot. It was about ten inches long and about two inches in diameter and contained a queer-smelling mixture The exterior of the bottle was covered with putty After smelling of it he threw the bottle overboard Some of the contents, however, had leaked on the floor under the seats and it was this that ignited with the water It was found that the bottle and its cork which was large and covered with lead was a counterpart of that which exploded in the depot and was doubtless placed by the same hand The explosive is supposed to be a mixture of phosphorus and muriatic acid which takes fire from contact with water

EASTERN NEWS ITEMS.

A PAPAL BENEDICTION FOR DR McGLYNN

NEW YORK March 4 —The parish of St. Stephen's Catholic church from which Rev Dr McGlynn was recently deposed was in a high state of delight this evening It was caused by a dispatch from the pope, in reply to the telegram sent to him on Tuesday by Carr in behalf of the parishioners congratulating him upon the attainment of his 76th birthday and the fiftieth anniversary of his priestly career The reply was received this afternoon It is in Latin and translated reads as follows 'Your telegram was most acceptable to the sovereign pontiff who returning thanks imparts most lovingly his apostolic benediction to Rev Dr McGlynn, to you and to the faithful of the parish"

The faithful followers of the deposed priest, even in his exile, were greatly elated over the fact that he had received the papal benediction, and felt sure that the restoration of their beloved priest was but a matter of a short time Rev Dr McGlynn was greatly moved when the dispatch was read to him. He attributed the blessing of the pope to the influence of Cardinal Gibbons, and said the attitude which had been brought about by the American cardinal towards the Knights of Labor indicated that the sovereign pontiff has concluded to allow political liberty of thought and action in this country.

THE NEW YORK CONFERENCE.

NEW YORK March 4 —Passenger agents and railroad managers who have this week been discussing the provisions of the interstate commerce law have arrived at an understanding and have prepared a report embodying their views The purpose was to construe the act uniformly This has been done. The report was to-day accepted by the joint committee, and adopted This practically finishes the work of the passenger departments but the freight rate committee will be engaged some days yet in working out minor details of little interest to any but themselves The passenger report will not be ready for publication before next week Some points in the report will be referred to counsel before going to the printer There will be practically no change in immigrant rates and no charge of percentage allowed to steamship companies Regarding mileage rates there will be no discrimination except as to ministers.

As stated in the new bill theatrical companies and shows of all kinds will be obliged to pay full rates Excursion rates will remain about the same except as to long journeys The most important change will be in second class rates which will be most uniform throughout This will result in a marked increase over the present rate over the same roads

INCENDIARY SPEECHES

NEW YORK March 4.—Three hundred anarchists and some score of socialists and a few women with a dozen policemen comprised the audience last night at the Concordia assembly rooms Wm Hasselman an ex member of the German reichstag spoke for one and a half hours denouncing Bismarck, Von Moltke and the Socialists and lauding the practices of the anarchists Braunschweig who was released from Blackwell's island yesterday said It will never do to throw the saviours of the working men into prison or hang them No their ghosts will rise from the grave and fight them, fight them with their own weapons Away with parliament! Away with the ballot nonsense The 68 000 votes our working men cast has made their condition no better if not worse Every reform has been brought about by force and working men should be taught anarchism

PRESIDENTIAL POSSIBILITIES

NEW YORK March 4 —Brokers, club men and practical politicians are trying to predict who is the man to be inaugurated president of the United States two years from to-day Republicans are about evenly divided between Blaine and Sherman with heavy odds on the latter Democrats choose a much wider field for selection Those who have free trade leanings are certain it will be either Beck Morrison or Carlisle and those who have a keen sense of the trouble which free-tradeism has already brought on the party swear by Samuel J Randall Henry George and the Knights of Labor are also trying their hand at it but in a different way Prediction is made by them that only the one who is fortunate enough to secure the support of organized labor will have an opportunity to deliver an inaugural address in 1888

THE FAILURE OF THE DEFICIENCY BILL

WASHINGTON, March 4 —The effect of the failure of the deficiency bill will be more serious than is generally believed inasmuch as it contained a provision for supplying pressing demands for postal cards stamps and other items connected with the postal service denial of which will it is expected seriously embarrass the department and the judicial machinery of the government will also be partially disarranged during the remainder of the year, as no money will be available for jurors or witnesses or lawyers Many prisoners notably those confined at Fort Smith Ark cannot be tried for months to come A number of soldiers claims aggregating $[illegible] which had been certified by the treasury will fail also of settlement

A FURTHER STATEMENT.

HOOD RIVER, March 1.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In a former communication concerning high license, the ancient plan of regulating theft was referred to in such a way as to lead THE OREGONIAN to suppose, and perhaps with reason, that the writer would place liquor sellers and liquor drinkers into the category of criminals, with thieves and burglars. This was not intended. The main thought was this: Is high license, in our time, a more correct solution of the drink problem than the regulating of stealing in ancient days? No doubt the "average public judgment" upon the stealing question was in accord with the "average common sense" of those times.

The amount of injury to society attributable to the drink habit is perhaps much greater than the damage done by all the thieves, ancient or modern, but we would not say that the man who buys or who sells a glass of wine is as bad as a thief. The saloon keeper, under the license system, is hardly more a figure in the problem than the glass that holds the wine. Both might be put to a better use, but to abuse either is a waste of ammunition. But the case is different as to what the government should do in the matter. Here we consider not "things" but responsibilities. We could wish that some of our temperance advocates were less extravagant in language and more temperate in their denunciations of other people, for this is the people's question and no set of people will succeed in having everything just their way, nor will any particular organization be able to absorb unto itself all the glory for any achievement of reform. We would wish that every voter would study this question soberly and then vote conscientiously, for a vote right on such a question is to do the country a true service.

Let us call things by their right names. The drink habit is a vice. The saloon is a school of vice—a primary school of crime. The state is now running hundreds of these schools. Every scholar pays his tuition, for the state cannot afford to run them as free schools. There are many graduates every year, and the state well knows that it must pay the graduation expenses and in many cases the funeral expenses also.

The frequenters of the saloons are, for the most part, of the weak-willed and the vicious classes, which, we will say, are the few rather than the many. Now, the laws are made for the few—these same weak-willed and vicious persons—and the theory is that "laws should be made so that it will be easy to do right and difficult to do wrong." Is it carrying out this principle to place a saloon between the shop and the home? It cannot be. Neither the amount of the license fee, nor the well known promptness with which the vender refuses to sell to minors, not even the extreme readiness with which the concern is kept closed on Sundays and election days, will justify the arrangement. What would I do? Since I do not claim to be as fully orthodox as some of our prohibition friends, I will tell you. I would simply close the schools of vice. They do not pay expenses. Would you allow a man to manufacture liquor? Yes, if his conscience permits. Would you tolerate the public and lawful sale of liquor? Yes, sir; the same as benzine or spirits of camphor. I would have it placed alongside of sulphuric acid, and as a matter of honesty I would not want the labels to get mixed. Well, sir! And would you think it prudent to allow a full grown man to walk boldly into the store and buy a bottle of wine to take home with him. Yes, sir, that is his business, not mine. Should you consent that the purchaser of the bottle of wine open the same in public and in the presence of your son offer to treat? No, sir. It is my right to interfere at this point. Vice is catching. If there be any use for law at all, it is the duty of the law makers to prevent the public spread of vice. Is there anything sumptuary in this? Yes, the liquor men would not like this arrangement because in a short time, with the schools of vice closed, the most of them would be obliged to advertise that "on account of failing health" they find it necessary to change occupations.

An Editor's Testimonial.

A. M. Vaughan, editor of the "Greenwich Review," Greenwich, O., writes: "Last January I met with a very severe accident, caused by a runaway horse. I used almost every kind of salve to heal the wounds which turned to running sores, but found nothing to do any good till I was recommended HENRY'S CARBOLIC SALVE. I bought a box and it helped me at once, and at the end of two months I was completely well. It is the best salve in the market, and I take pleasure in telling my friends about it, and urge them to use it whenever in need.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

MR. ELIOT'S LECTURE.—A large audience attended the "Illustrated Lecture on Pompeii," given by Rev. T. L. Eliot last evening in the tabernacle under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian association. The lecture is the result of careful study during a tour of Southern Europe made by Mr. Eliot a few years since. The first illustration shown by lantern under the oxy-hydrogen light was that of a magnificent vase which the lecturer introduced as the symbolic base of his descript ones. Graphic descriptions of the forty magnificent illustrations were given in eloquent language. The scene and description of the terrible eruption of Vesuvius and the flight of the horror-stricken people was thrilling. The home life of the people of 1800 years since was minutely described. The picture of a figure taken from a plaster cast, and the description of how it was procured, was very interesting; also the various inscriptions found on walls, notices of elections, boys' scribblings, etc. The lecture proved to be the most interesting yet given, and the large audience expressed themselves as more than satisfied. Another illustrated lecture on "America, the Land we Live In," will be given in Y. M. C. A. hall by Mr. E. C. Frost for the benefit of the library of the boys' branch.

BOUND OVER.—On Wednesday last Jas. Howard was arrested in Justice Tuttle's court and on examination yesterday was bound over to keep the peace to Mrs. W. Chambers. Tuesday Howard passed before Mrs. Chambers's house on I and Thirteenth streets, East Portland. Mrs. Chambers happened to be out at the time, and Howard stopped and applied vile language to her. Wednesday Mrs. Chambers started to cross over into Portland. When she reached the corner of J and Third she noticed that Howard had secreted himself behind some boards at Third and K, where she expected to pass. She went back to Fourth and a gentleman accompanied her to the ferry. Howard, she stated, has cursed her on the streets, and she has been in constant fear of him. The inside facts in this case have frequently been published. Mrs. Chambers was not, as has been stated, brought back from California by a United States marshal, but was taken into custody here and charged with opening a letter addressed to Howard and abstracting $8. She was released on her own recognizance and the case against her was never pushed.

THOSE MEETINGS.—The evangelistic services which are to be held to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the New Market theater will be of exceptional interest. In the first place, they will be popular; every one is invited. The music will be furnished by a male quartette, under the direction of Mr. E. C. Frost. The addresses will be short and well aimed. Rev. E. T. Clapp will introduce the service. Mr. Frost, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., will speak to the young men for five minutes. Rev. Mr. Schlenke will give a brief address to the Germans in the language of Fatherland. Mrs. Capt. Stillwell, of the Salvation Army, will speak in her enthusiastic manner, and Rev. R. B. Dilworth will also have something to say. All of these people are worth listening to, and their subjects are of profound importance; at least, many honest people think they are. Admittance is free and all are cordially invited to come. Meetings will be held every night next week, at 7:30 o'clock, in Calvary church, corner Ninth and Clay streets, to which all will be welcome.

BONDED CAR BURGLARIZED.—Two cars arriving here lately over the Northern, loaded with bonded goods, were found to have had the seals removed and to have been entered. Messrs. Duff and Failing of the customs department went down yesterday to examine into the matter. Only one car had been transferred to this side of the river and the only damage done in that was opening a small case of canned corned beef and consuming the contents of four cans. Bonded cars are not as a general thing locked, the seals of the United States and the railroad company being considered sufficient protection. Some people evidently think that a car thus sealed contains more valuable goods than those fastened in the ordinary way and expect by breaking into them to make a haul. If they were detected in breaking the government seals they would find that they would get more than they bargained for.

PORTLAND'S PERFECTION JAR.—Mr. L. P. R. LeCompte, with Hegele & Co., has secured a patent on a glass fruit jar invented by him, which he claims is superior to all other jars and which he has named the "Perfection" jar. It is very simple in its construction and very efficient in its working. The jar is furnished with two little bales of stout wire. The cover is of glass, sits on the usual rubber band, and has a semi-circular ridge across the top covered with little hollows. The jar being filled and the cover placed on it the little bales are pulled up one on each side and are held in the notches in the ridge on the cover. A child can seal or open a can, and after a can has been filled and cooled the wires can be removed and it can at once be seen whether it is airtight or not by trying the cover. The jar looks as if it were perfection in reality as well as in name.

SYMPATHIZED WITH THE DEFAULTER.—A gang of roustabouts had a great spree on North First street yesterday afternoon. A fellow who keeps a sort of restaurant there tackled a Scandinavian member of the Salvation army for a board bill amounting to $24. His loud talking attracted a crowd of laborers and loafers whose sympathies seemed all to be with the defaulting debtor. They jeered at the restaurant keeper and indulged in a great deal of horse play at his expense, pulling and hauling him around, but he kept on laying down the rules to the Salvation soldier in fine style. At length three stout fellows seized and held him while another drew a burlap sack over his head. He succeeded in pulling it off and chased his assailants around the street for some time. He had better hang up one of these "no credit" mottoes in his joint.

SHIP AND CAPTAIN LIBELED.—The British ship Andreta was libeled yesterday by John Olsen, boatswain, for $73 alleged to be due him as wages, and Capt. Hobin and First Mate McCauley were libeled for damages caused to Olsen by beating him on the high seas. They gave bail in the sum of $5000 each. Capt. Hobin says his mate was challenged to fight by Olsen, and he has about made up his mind that in the future when a sailor wants to fight he will just allow that sailor to thump him, and then have the sailor arrested when he gets into port. Olsen claims to have lost an eye from the treatment he received, but the mate says he had a bad eye when he came on board. Taken full and by a life on the ocean wave does not seem to be altogether a happy one.

INSTALLATION SERVICE.—Sunday evening at 7:30 Rev. Warren H. Landon, pastor-elect of Calvary Presbyterian church, will be installed. Rev. D. O. Ghormley, of East Portland, will preside and propound the constitutional questions. Rev. Thomas Boyd, of the Fourth Presbyterian church, South Portland, will preach the sermon. Rev. W. S. Holt will deliver the charge to the pastor. Rev. Donald Ross will deliver the charge to the people. C. C. Falleniue has kindly consented to play a solo during the offertory. Ralph W. Hoyt will preside at the organ as usual. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend.

NOT A GOOD TIME FOR RAILROAD BUILDING.—The chamber of commerce of Astoria had an interview with Gen. Anderson on Thursday evening in regard to extension of the Northern Pacific from Hunter's Point to Astoria. Statistics of the business done at Astoria were laid before him, which somewhat surprised him. He however stated that there was no possibility of the proposed road being built unless the provisions and practical text of the interstate commerce law should prove to be considerably more favorable than he or others believe it can be made to appear.

SUIT TO FORECLOSE MORTGAGE.—John and Albert J. Roy yesterday commenced suit in the state circuit court against Julius Huebner, James B. Leahy, George R. Coffin, E. Lyons, E. F. Chamberlin, Portland Savings bank, W. O. Wells and others to recover $4000 on a promissory note executed by Huebner and Leahy to plaintiffs February 10, 1886, and secured by a mortgage on certain lands. This mortgage they asked to be foreclosed. Coffin, Lyons, Chamberlin, etc., are made parties defendant for the reason that it is alleged they have some interest in the mortgage.

SELLWOOD ELECTION.—An election for municipal officers will be held at Sellwood this afternoon. The polls will be open at Union hall from 2 to 6 P. M. Following is a list of candidates on the citizens' ticket, as unanimously renominated at a meeting of the citizens on February 23: President of the council, J. G. Cunningham; councilmen, A. M. Spiekelmer, E. L. Corner, C. F. Chatterton, Charles Murby; treasurer, E. Seaverence; recorder, G. L. Reed; superintendent of streets, L. W. Robertson; marshal, Nick Counts.

COMING BACK TO AMERICA.—In the Pacific Commercial Advertiser, of Honolulu, of February 21, appears the resignation of Rev. J. A. Cruzan as pastor of the First street church, to take effect at the close of his sixth year of service, September 1. His reason for presenting his resignation so early is that he desires to sail for America at the beginning of his annual vacation. He wishes to give the church ample time to arrange for a successor to take up the work at once on his departure.

SHEEP HERDER SHOT.—A fatal shooting affray occurred at Ontario, on the Short Line, in Baker county, on Monday last. Henry Khudie and a man named Low, sheep herders in the employ of a man named Jones, went to Ontario for recreation and got into a drunken row, when Low shot Khudie, killing him instantly. Coroner Shepherd, of Baker City, started to investigate the matter.

WILL RECOMMENCE BRICKLAYING.—Messrs. Langford & Bridges will start in again to lay brick on their contract for the terminal buildings at Albina on Monday. The foundations are about all completed, and as it is to be hoped the cold weather is past they intend to put on a large force of bricklayers and push the work vigorously to completion.

NOT GUILTY.—The Yakima Signal states that the charge against Frank Forrest, of Ellensburg, of complicity in the theft of a bank check, has been disproved. Mr. Forrest's leaving of Ellensburgh was due to a long settled and well known determination to go to California, and not to any other cause.

JURY DISCHARGED.—The jury in the Prindle case were discharged at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, being unable to agree. They were out for two days. District Attorney McGinn had the second trial of the case set for the 11th inst. The jury were mainly in favor of conviction.

PATENT WHIST COUNTER.—Mr. Frank Dayton, of this city, has advices of the fact that his invention is now in the manufacturer's hands, all the improvements having been perfected, and are being turned out as fast as time and convenience of the manufacturer will permit.

A COUNTER STATEMENT.

PORTLAND, March 4.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

There appeared in THE OREGONIAN of to-day an extraordinary document that would do me great injury were I separated from all my friends and without support in this community.

The decree of a council held at the German Reformed church dismissing me from the ministry, is an unjust and wholly prejudiced disposition of an affair that should have been treated in a very different spirit.

The facts are as follows: Rev. A. J. Olinger made a complaint in Mercersburg, Pa., the 11th of October, 1886, against certain irregularities of Rev. Mr. Gantenbein of this city. The synod of Potomac thereupon resolved, "that we request the Portland (Oregon) classis, to give a hearing and careful consideration to the complaints of Mr. Olinger."

A council was called lately consisting entirely of Mr. Gantenbein's friends, and in Mr. Gantenbein's church, long after the case had been recommended to them.

Moreover, when Rev. Mr. Olinger saw that his case was to be neglected, and a cause that he had at heart injured, he offered his resignation to the Oregon classis on the 12th of December, 1886. And when, finally, this had no effect, he sent his resignation and his claim to his pay to the Lancaster office of the Reformed church in the following letter, which explains itself:

Addressing the superintendent he said: "Dear Sir—Owing to the fact that the mode of carrying on the work of the church in Oregon by those who ought to be my assistants, is not such as either my conscience or my judgment can approve, I respectfully beg leave hereby to resign my appointment as missionary among the German and Franco-Germans in the state, which I have heretofore held under your authority, from date of 20th of August, 1885."

Following the facts of failure to pay my salary, I have been obliged to point out the necessity of seeking legal redress, and although I have tried to do it delicately, it was necessary to offend.

Mr. J. B. Braun, who has signed the paper as secretary of the council, has been in this country only since the 1st of December and can know but little of the acts to which he affirms.

A. J. OLINGER, Pastor.

OUR NEW MAJOR-GENERAL.

HUNTINGTON, Or., Feb. 27.

Col. H. B. Compson of this place, recently appointed major-general of the Oregon state militia by Gov. Pennoyer, was born in Seneca county, N. Y., in 1844. He enlisted as a private soldier in the war of the rebellion at the age of 17, in the Eighth New York cavalry. Before the close of the war he had filled every office in the regiment, through a continuous line of promotion from corporal to colonel, each promotion being made by reason of meritorious service and gallant conduct upon the battlefield.

He was twice wounded, and four horses were shot under him. He was with Col. Davis's command, under Gen. Miles, that cut its way out of Harper's Ferry when surrounded by Gen. Jackson's forces, Miles surrendering to Jackson next day. Upon this occasion Col. Compson captured from the enemy 125 wagons loaded with ammunition. He was in command of the advance regiments at the battle of Waynesborough, Va.,—Gen. Sheridan, corps commander,—and was ordered by Gen. Custer to charge the enemy that day in his stronghold, against the destructive fire of six pieces of artillery planted in his face. This gallant charge, which resulted in the capture of the six pieces of artillery, 1350 prisoners, 250 wagons and ambulances, 1500 stand of arms, 1200 horses, 6 forges and 17 battle-flags, called from Sheridan and Custer personal compliments upon the field, and Sheridan detailed Col. Compson to convey the captured flags, together with dispatches, to Washington. On account of his gallant services that day he was voted a medal of honor by congress and was commissioned brevet colonel by Secretary Stanton and promoted to full colonelcy by the governor of New York.

The records of the battles of Antietam, Harper's Ferry, Gettysburg, Winchester, Cedar Creek, of Sheridan's raid, of Wilson's raid, the battle of Five Forks and the surrender of Gen. Lee at Appomatox show that Col. Compson took an active part in the great struggle for the preservation of the Union, from the opening till the close of the war. He was a brave and gallant soldier, and in every way deserves the honor which Gov. Pennoyer has conferred.

We cannot lessen your toil, ladies, but we can make it easier for you, by making you stronger and better able to do it. THE LOST CHARLEY ROSS.

When Found he Can't be Kept—The Correct Way of Solving the "Prisoner Puzzle."

Our last summer burglar C. H. Ross was brought up before Judge Stearns yesterday morning shortly before noon and sentenced to four years in the penitentiary. He was afterwards taken back to his quarters in the county jail and put in the right hand corridor. The inside door to this, which an attempt to break through was made Wednesday had just been repaired, and all the prisoners were on the left hand side, so this left Ross alone in the right hand corridor. While the workmen were engaged repairing the iron door the whole corridor was opened to admit of the passage of air and light. When Ross was placed therein the inside door was locked and it was thought by Jailer Lounsbury that the back door leading to Fifth street had also been fastened. Be this as it may Ross succeeded about half an hour after he had been placed in the corridor in making his escape through this back door, and at last accounts was still at large. Report goes that Ross objected to going to Salem under escort of a deputy sheriff and to wearing bracelets, preferring to go alone and pay his own way. How soon he will get ready to start of his own accord to accept four years free accommodation is something the authorities have not yet ascertained, but it is presumed Ross is not in much of a hurry.

Sheriff Jordan will pay $100 reward for the recovery of Charles Ross, who escaped from the county jail yesterday. Ross is 5 feet 7 or 8 inches in hight, and weighs about 160 pounds. He was a nice, clean-looking fellow when he left, having been newly shaved. He is dark-complexioned, round face, rather heavy black mustache, and light side-whiskers about an inch down his cheek. He had on a thin blue summer coat, brownish red plaid vest, half-inch squares, and black pantaloons with small white specks. If Ross is caught again he should be placed in a jail of forty-nine cells and only one door to go out at, and allowed to wear himself out in trying to escape.

THE EAST SIDE.

The programme of the Longfellow memorial exercises at the Central school yesterday afternoon contained highly interesting numbers. There was an excellent sketch of Longfellow's life read by Miss Carrie Ross, that clearly illustrated the simple purity of the poet's life. The music and select readings were all taken from the writings of Longfellow with a view to bringing out all there is of beauty in his poetry. Impressions were evidently made upon the students' minds concerning Longfellow that never will be effaced. All the students took an interest in the novel exercises and a healthy rivalry was apparent among those who were on the programme.

POLICE COURT.

Yesterday in the police court the examination of Henry Johnson, for adultery, was concluded. Johnson, backed up by the woman, denied the truth of the charge. Judge Dement, nevertheless, held Johnson to answer before the grand jury with bonds fixed at $1000. The woman in the case appeared on the witness stand with a crying babe in her arms and with a couple of other children running around her, one, a little tiny girl, who eventually had to take charge of the infant, while her mother testified. The scene was one the like of which is seldom witnessed in a court room.

Mike Hailey, a frequent visitor at headquarters of late, wanted to leave town and was given five days to sober up in so that he would be in condition to leave. Hailey said he did not think it would take him this amount of time to brace up, but the court was of a different opinion.

Al Slader, Florence Fallon, Lizzie Faulls and Mary Dorner had an examination on a charge of robbing Isaac Allen, a Washington county farmer, out of $110 in Faulls's dive, at Front and Main streets. It was the old story of seeing the elephant, a big drunk, etc. The evidence disclosed the fact that the Dorner woman and Lizzie Faulls were the principals in the affair. All were, however, held to answer before the grand jury. Al Slader and Lizzie Faulls in $1000 each and Florence Fallon and Mary Dorner in $250 each. The case had no sooner been passed upon than John Faulls, the owner of the dive, was arrested for complicity in the affair. He will be examined to-day.

"DON'T YOU WORRY."

How Shrewd Business Men have Solved a Great Problem.

"Is there a fatality among our prominent men," is a question that we often ask. It is a question that perplexes our leading medical men, and they are at a loss to know how to answer it.

We sometimes think that if the physicians would give part of the energy to the consideration of this question that they give to combatting other schools of practice, it might be satisfactorily answered.

The fights of "isms" reminds us often of the quarrels of old Indian tribes, that were only happy when they were annihilating each other.

If Allopathy makes a discovery that promises good to the race, Homœopathy derides it and breaks down its influence. If Homœopathy makes a discovery that promises to be a boon to the race, Allopathy attacks it.

It is absurd that these schools should fancy that all of good is in their methods and none in any other.

Fortunately for the people, the merit which these "isms" will not recognize is recognized by the public, and this public recognition, taking the form of a demand upon the medical profession, eventually compels the public to recognize it.

Is it possible that the question has been answered by shrewd business men? A prominent man once said to an inquirer, who asked him how he got rich, "I got rich because I did things while other people were thinking about doing them." It seems to us that the people have recognized what this fatality is, and how it can be met, while the medical profession have been wrangling about it.

By a careful examination of insurance reports we find that there has been a sharp reform with reference to examinations, (and that no man can now get any amount of insurance who has the least development of kidney disorder), because they find that sixty out of every hundred in this country do, either directly or indirectly, suffer from kidney disease. Hence, no reliable company will insure a man except after a rigid urinary examination.

This reminds us of a little instance which occurred a short time ago. A fellow-editor was an applicant for a respectable amount of insurance. He was rejected on examination because, unknown to himself, his kidneys were diseased. The shrewd agent, however, did not give up the case. He had an eye to business and to his commission, and said: "Don't you worry; you get a half dozen bottles of Warner's safe cure, take it according to directions, and in about a month come around and we will have another examination. I know you will find yourself all right and you will get your policy."

The editor expressed surprise at the agent's faith, but the latter replied: "This point is a valuable one. Very many insurance agents all over the country, when they find a customer rejected for this cause, give similar advice and eventually he gets the insurance."

What are we to infer from such circumstances? Have shrewd insurance men, as well as other shrewd business men, found the secret answer to the inquiry? Is it possible that our columns have been proclaiming, in the form of advertisements, what has proved a blessing in disguise to millions, and yet by many ignored as an advertisement?

In our files we find thousands of strong testimonials for Warner's safe cure, no two alike, which could not exist except upon a basis of truth; indeed, they are published under a guarantee of $5000 to any one who will disprove their correctness, and this offer has been standing, we are told, for more than four years.

Undoubtedly this article, which is simply dealing out justice, will be considered as an advertisement and be rejected by many as such.

We have not space nor time to discuss the proposition that a poor thing could not succeed to the extent that this great remedy has succeeded, could not become so popular without merit, even if pushed by a Vanderbilt or an Astor.

Hence we take the liberty of telling our friends that it is a duty that they owe to themselves to investigate the matter and reflect carefully, for the statements published are subject to the refutation of the entire world. None have refuted them; on the contrary hundreds of thousands have believed them and proved them true, and in believing have found the highest measure of satisfaction, that which money cannot buy, and money cannot take away.

A Position Occupied by No Other City on the Pacific Coast.

Over Five Million Dollars to be Expended in Improvements in Portland and Vicinity During the Current Year.

THE O. R. & N. LEASE HAS BEEN LEGALized by an act of the Oregon Legislature, and it is now an indisputable fact that Portland is to be the competing point and actual terminus of the three great transcontinental railway lines—the Union, Northern and Southern Pacific. This means increased business, increased wealth, increased population, and a rapid rise in city and suburban property, of which we have over 200 pieces, which we are offering at prices that will enable everyone to secure a home before the boom. In addition to our list of residence properties, we have a number of choice pieces of business property in Portland, East Portland, Albina and Salem, to which the attention of Eastern investors is called. If you want to secure a home and an independence at the same time through an investment in real estate, don't wait until Portland assumes the proportions of Kansas City, which it will in the course of five years, but make it at once, and thereby secure the benefit of the rise.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, March 4.—That the adjournment of congress was more than discounted was shown by the course of prices for the day. The market was much duller than on previous days of this week until late in the afternoon, and trading up to that time was almost entirely devoid of feature. The adjournment of congress, leaving several appropriation bills unsettled, encouraged some selling, which slowly sagged prices off. Pacific Mail was an exception to the rule, and showed considerable strength upon the revival of a story that its difficulties with the transcontinental roads had been satisfactorily settled. The opening was rather heavy, most stocks showing declines of small fractions from last evening's final quotations. Trading was light, and while some irregularity was noticeable, prices were generally heavy, slowly sagging off, which continued until noon. Pacific Mail was prominent in the upward movement. Jersey Central began at noon, and the general list responded slowly, but before 2 P. M. a selling pressure forced prices down again, and the lowest figures were recovered in the last hour. The close was moderately active, and heavy to weak, at or about the lowest prices reached.

Government bonds were heavy and dull for 4½s.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

A slight shock of earthquake was felt at Charleston yesterday morning.

Prevailing rough weather in province of Quebec, Canada, has blockaded trains.

O'Donovan Rossa has suspended the publication of his paper, because, he says, he needed rest.

Ex-Congressman Edward Breitung, of Negaunee, Michigan, died at Eastman, Georgia, last night. He leaves an estate valued at from $5,000,000 to $7,000,000.

James Fruin was killed in the Choctaw nation Wednesday by one of his workmen. Fruin was a railroad contractor from St. Louis, and had large contracts on the railways from Fort Smith to Paris, Texas.

It is feared the British ship T. N. Hart, Capt. McCarthy, 1460 tons is lost. She sailed from New York for Shanghai, May 16, last, since which time, nothing has been heard of her. She had a crew of twenty men, was valued at $52,000 and loaded with oil and coal worth $45,000.

The freight brakemen of the Pittsburg division of the B. & O., have joined those of the Mount Pleasant branch in demanding an increase of wages. Officials state the demand will be refused. Indications are the strike will extend over the entire system east of the Ohio river.

RAILROAD NOTES.

NORTHERN PACIFIC BRANCH INTO MANITOBA.

WINNIPEG, March 4.—The Northern Pacific and Grand Trunk railways are said to have just concluded an arrangement by which the former builds a line from Crookston to the boundary, where the Grand Trunk meets it with another extension from Winnipeg to Portage La Prairie, connecting with the Manitoba and North Western, which runs within two hundred and fifty miles of Prince Albert. The Grand Trunk is said to have purchased the last named road giving it material for an important trunk line.

For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Price 25 cents. WOODARD, CLARK & CO., Agents.

Fight between Mexican Troops and Officers at Nogales.

THE TROUBLE NOT YET ENDED.

End of the Street Car Strike in San Francisco—Reimbursement of Counties for Mortgage Tax Collections.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 4.—The Bulletin's Nogales, Arizona, special says: Last night Deputy Sheriff James Speedy saw Lieut. Gutterez, with four armed soldiers, crossing a bridge over a small dry creek into the United States. He immediately called on Littlepage and Dr. Purdy to go with him and see why an armed party should enter the United States. On arriving in front of the American custom house the lieutenant of the Mexican troops stepped in front of Littlepage and, covering him with a revolver, demanded the release of a Mexican named Rincon, whom they supposed the American authorities were holding as a prisoner. Littlepage replied: "I have no prisoner," and immediately snatched the six-shooter out of the lieutenant's hand, placing him under arrest. The American officers started for the main street of the town. The lieutenant called on some other Mexican soldiers, concealed in the dry bed of the creek, to release him. They immediately ran to the American officers, and one of the soldiers covering Littlepage with his rifle demanded the release of his lieutenant. Sheriff Speedy commanded Littlepage to fire upon the soldier, and immediately fired himself upon the soldier who had Littlepage covered. This soldier also fired at Littlepage, but Littlepage knocked the gun aside and at the same time drawing his revolver fired at the Mexican.

THE MEXICANS RETREAT.

The firing then became general between the three officers and the Mexican soldiers. The Mexicans retreating across the international line into Mexico, and the American officers following and shooting until their weapons were empty. By this time the American population was aroused, and every man who could procure weapons, armed himself, expecting an attack every moment from Mexican soldiers, who had been ordered out by Col. Arvizu, their commander, and stationed on the railroad platform in front of the Mexican custom house.

News was brought that one Mexican soldier was mortally wounded.

It is stated that the cause of armed men being sent into the United States was for the purpose of compelling a Mexican prostitute, with whom Col. Arvizu had been living, and who had refused to cohabit with him any longer, to return, and, upon being discovered by the officers, they made a bold bluff to cover up their intentions.

MORE TROUBLE FEARED.

Acting United States Consul W. B. Groseclose has taken the matter in hand, and this morning made a demand upon the Mexican authorities for Lieut. Gutterez. More trouble is looked for to-night, as it is expected Col. Arvizu will seek revenge.

Gov. Torres has been advised of the situation, and will arrive here to-morrow morning.

Gen. Miles has been requested by the United States attorney at Tucson to send troops here immediately. The captain of the home guard at Crittenden has been requested to forward all available arms and 1000 rounds of ammunition for the arming of the citizens.

COUNTIES REIMBURSED.

Amounts Due from the State for Taxes Collected on Mortgages.

SALEM, March 4.—The legislature passed an act reimbursing certain counties for moneys paid by them to the state as taxes due on mortgages assessed in 1883 and 1884. Although these counties paid the state its portion of the taxes on mortgages assessed, they themselves failed to collect them, on account of the injunction issued from the United States district court. These amounts were to-day placed to the credit of these counties in the office of the state treasurer. They are as follows: Douglas county, $2271 66; Polk, $2592 55; Marion, $1133 51; Washington, $2577; Clackamas, $1409 18; Benton, $1447 96; Lane, $1473 50; Umatilla, $2421; Linn, $2891 70; Yamhill, $1018 79; Multnomah, $2620 21; Columbia, $139 19; total, $21,937 71.

CALIFORNIA.

THE STREET CAR STRIKE ENDED.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 4.—The strike of carmen on the Sutter and Geary st. cable roads, which has been on for the past four months, has ended. According to the statement of one of the strikers, it is stated that trouble arose at a meeting of the seamen's association of Knights of Labor in regard to the distribution of money obtained by an entertainment given under the auspices of the carmen. The assembly decided that the money should be divided among all needy strikers, while those who are engaged in the omnibus enterprise claimed that it should be turned over to them for maintenance of the line. It was also stated that the buss line was not paying expenses. This finally led to a vote being taken on the proposition to declare the strike off, and the motion was carried.

From other sources it is learned that it was decided to defer declaring the strike off until Monday next.

The strikers state that some time between last night and this morning some person or persons entered the stables of the bus line on Pacific avenue, near Polk street, and not only emptied the safe of what money it contained, but carried off almost every article of value in the place. They believe that the work was that of some of the impatient strikers, who could not wait until Monday for a general division of the assets. Busses on the Carmen's line are not running to-day.

THE SAN FRANCISCO "EXAMINER."

SAN FRANCISCO, March 4.—The following appears at the head of the Examiner's editorial columns this morning, and explains itself: "The Examiner with this issue has become the exclusive property of William R. Hearst, son of its former proprietor. It will be conducted in future on the same lines and policies as characterized its career under the control of Senator Hearst."

STATE DISPATCHES.

NEWS ITEMS FROM JACKSONVILLE.

JACKSONVILLE, March 4.—A number of Grant's Pass parties will probably be indicted by the next grand jury for violating the game law. It is said that several officers of the law are included in the list. J. C. Gilliam, of that place, was arrested during the week for running down deer with hounds, and was held to answer with bonds at $100.

Taxes are coming in more freely, but the prospect is favorable for a much larger sum being returned delinquent than usual, owing to hard times and a great scarcity of money.

A large majority of the members of the new board of trustees are in favor of the reduction of the present liquor license, and they will doubtless reduce it. All the members of the board also favor immediate connection with the railroad.

The capital stock of the branch railroad is $30,000 instead of $300,000, as telegraphed Tuesday.

FREIGHT WAREHOUSE BURNED.

HUNTINGTON, March 4.—About 2 A. M. fire broke out in the freight house of the O. S. L. and O. R. & N. companies, completely destroying the building and contents. Very little freight was in at the time. All the records and books were burned. The loss, including building and furniture, is about $1000. It is supposed the fire caught from a lamp sitting near the papers.

A CHINESE ABSCONDER.

UMATILLA, March 4.—A Chinaman named Ah Duck ran away from here with a woman named John You, taking $600 belonging to other Chinamen. He started for San Francisco via Ogden, but was arrested at Huntington.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

THE WALLA WALLA EXCURSION TO PENDLETON.

WALLA WALLA, March 4.—The excursionists to Pendleton returned perfectly jubilant over the treatment received there. Nearly 300, with the Second cavalry band and cadets of St. Patrick's academy, were met at Pendleton by Wager, the council and representatives of the board of trade, and escorted to a ball. Speeches were made by Mayor Martin, Wager and Blum, of Pendleton, which were responded to by the mayor of Walla Walla, Hon. J. B. Allen, who made the best speech of his life. Everything was free. The hotels provided excellent dinners at the expense of the citizens of Pendleton. The cadets' drill pleased every one for so young boys. A return excursion will visit Walla Walla shortly, when we shall try to get even.

THE BULGARIAN UPRISING.

The Rebels Defeated in a Hot Fight, and Many of them Killed.

SOFIA, March 3.—The government authorities have placed under arrest thirty persons, including Karaveloff and Isapoff, who were found to be in communication with the insurgents at Silistria and Rustchuk. They are also charged with being implicated in a plot to enlist thirty armed men for the purpose of creating a disturbance here, and adding to the complications with which the regency have to contend.

The rising at Rustchuk has been entirely suppressed. All the insurgent officers were either taken prisoners, killed or wounded in battle with the loyal troops, or were drowned. The rebels, after arresting the loyal officers and commander of the garrison, summoned the infantry to surrender, which they refused to do. Firing then began, and the mutineers were attacked by the militia and forced to retreat. They were pursued and driven into the Danube by the infantry. The rebels took boats and endeavored to escape, but their boats were stopped by a gunboat and they were compelled to yield.

The loyalists entered Silistria without opposition. They found there the corpse of Col. Kristoff, commander of the garrison, who had been killed by his men. The other officers escaped into Roumania.

CAPTURED AND SHOT.

LONDON, March 4.—A dispatch to the Times from Bucharest, states that several persons were killed in the fight at Silistria, between insurgents and loyal troops. The officers and sixteen privates who engaged in the revolt were captured and shot.

INSURRECTIONS AT OTHER PLACES.

PARIS, March 4.—A telegram from Giurgevo says uprisings have taken place at Tirnova and other places, and that the insurgents are reported to be masters of affairs at Tirnova. Communication between Sofia and the provinces is interrupted. Anarchy is spreading in Bulgaria.

PRECAUTIONS IN SERVIA.

VIENNA, March 4.—Servia, as a precautionary measure, in view of the trouble in Bulgaria, has sent troops to the frontier. It is also reported that the Servian reserves have been called out.

AN ACCOUNT FROM RUSTCHUK.

RUSTCHUK, March 4.—The commander at Silistria seized the governor of the town Monday last. Troops from here, Rasgad and Varna suppressed the revolt. With the exception of killing the commander, the affair was bloodless. Tuesday Maj. Ouzonoff, with a battalion of engineers, surrounded the Rustchuk barracks, arrested all the officers and proclaimed the metropolitan Clement regent of Bulgaria. The inhabitants rose in arms against the insurgents. Fighting continued throughout Wednesday, when the insurgents attempted to retreat across the Danube. Owing to a heavy fire poured into them from the shore, they were compelled to abandon their boats, and take refuge on an island, which was finally captured. All the insurgents were wounded, Maj. Ouzonoff so seriously as to necessitate removal to the hospital. The authority of the regents is restored. The whole town is rejoicing to-night over the downfall of the rebels.

CABLE NOTES.

Another slight earthquake was felt at Nice.

The English commons passed the Irish police bill by a vote of 246 to 121.

The English cabinet has unanimously confirmed the previous decision not to prosecute Archbishop Croke.

The tory proposal in commons that boycotting be made punishable with severe measures was rejected.

A grand military tournament is being arranged at Nice for the benefit of sufferers by the recent earthquakes.

President Grevy of France will send a special envoy to Berlin to congratulate the emperor on the 90th anniversary of his birth.

Herr Weddell Tresdorf was elected president of the reichstag, receiving 184 votes. Dr. Windthorst, received but two ballots.

The St. James Gazette and Dublin Express continue to give warning that the government will ruin the party unless they adopt a vigorous Irish policy.

Engineers report only a few houses safe in Oneglia, and it will be necessary to build huts for the accommodation of 70,000 persons rendered homeless by the earthquake.

One person has escaped alive from the ruins at Diano Marino, and a whole family were rescued from a cellar in Taggia. They all have been immured since the first shocks occurred.

Lord Ashbourne has completed his land bill, extending the powers of purchase, and substituting five year judicial leases for the leases of fifteen years. The bill will probably be introduced in the house of lords next week.

A Berlin dispatch to the London Post says M. de Lesseps is coming to Berlin to offer French neutrality in the event of war in eastern Europe, in exchange for Germany's support in the settlement of the Egyptian question in conformity with French aspirations.

The Journal de St. Petersburg says: Reports that the ameer of Afghanistan is preparing for a holy war are likely to cause more alarm in Bombay and Madras than at Russian headquarters in Central Asia, where no attacks are meditated against the ameer's possessions.

George Frank in Anderson, the alleged lawyer, arrested in London for swindling Charles Deakin of Susquehanna, Pa., out of large sums of money under a pretense of prosecuting a suit for the recovery of a large English estate to which Deakin believed he was an heir, was convicted and sentenced to five years' penal servitude.

At Limerick a sensation has been caused by the perpetration of very extensive incendiarism in the country surrounding the city. A large number of houses occupied by tenants, and outbuildings, were burned. The victims in all cases are persons who paid their rents. The outrages are set down as political. Great excitement prevails. The aggregate of property destroyed is very large. The district was ablaze all night with burning houses and hay.

News is received of the capture by Portuguese of the fortress commanding the bay of Tungi, and occupation of the bay. Mamnarel, a petty native chief, is at the head of the present uprising on the Mozambique mainland against Portuguese authority. The insurgents are looting stores. It is not thought that there is any danger to life or property on the Island of Mozambique, on which the capital of the country is situated. British cruisers have arrived at the capital to protect English subjects and interests. The government of Mozambique has telegraphed Portuguese gunboats to remain at Tungi, to assist in the work of installing the Portuguese government in authority there. It is said the Portuguese bombarded the fortress at Tungi before capturing it, and burnt the village of Massingane.

WAR NOTES.

WAR PREPARATIONS BY AUSTRIA.

VIENNA, March 4.—At a military conference, presided over by the emperor, it was decided to appoint several officers for superior commands in the event of war. The crown prince will command one army corps.

The erection of wooden huts for troops in Galicia is proceeding rapidly, forts are being armed, and ammunition and provisions are being stored. The construction of strategic railway lines is being hastened, there being 470 men at work. These preparations are causing great anxiety in Galicia. It is feared that in the event of an Austro-Russian war Austrian troops will be withdrawn from the defense of the line in the Carpathians. A report is credited in Polish circles to the effect that the emperor in conversation with a Galician nobleman who referred to these fears, said: "If war breaks out with Russia we are determined to defend Galicia."

PREPARATIONS IN BESSARABIA.

BUCHAREST, March 4.—Persons who have arrived here from Bessarabia state that the Russian war department has ordered the principal towns in that province to make preparations for delivering large quantities of bread daily whenever called on to do so. Bakeries are being made ready everywhere, and forage provisions are being stored. Chancellor Bratiano declares privately that Roumania will fight the first power that crosses the Roumanian frontier.

A RUMOR ABOUT THE CZAR.

BERLIN, March 4.—A report, emanating from Paris, is current to the effect that the czar has given notice of his withdrawal from the alliance of the three emperors, resuming freedom of action. The rumor is not believed in diplomatic circles.

CANADA.

AMERICAN LUMBERMEN WOULD BE CRIPPLED.

MONTREAL, March 4.—J. H. Cope, minister of finance, to-day drew attention to the enormous amount of American capital which is invested in the lumbering trade of Canada, and which would receive a severe blow if the bill stopping all commercial intercourse was put into operation. This is one of the chief lumbering centers in which American capital is largely employed. U. S. Consul Thomas W. Hotchkiss, when asked whether he had given the question any consideration, said: "I have placed the subject before the department of state at Washington. A large number of Americans who have pecuniary interests in Canada would be financially ruined were strict non-intercourse established. The amount of wholly American capital at stake would run into the millions."

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC'S STEAMER LINE.

MONTREAL, March 4.—The arrangements of the Canadian Pacific Railway company for through connection with China have been completed. Three steamers have been chartered, and the first will leave Hong Kong early in April.

Railway authorities here apparently do not anticipate any interference with the international train service as a result of the passage of retaliatory measures by the United States congress.

My wife, some three or four years ago, was troubled with an ulcer on the side of her tongue near the throat. The pain was incessant, causing loss of sleep and producing great nervous prostration. Accompanying this trouble was rheumatism. It had passed from the shoulders and centered in the wrist of one hand, she almost losing the use of it. Between the suffering of the two, life had grown burdensome. By the use of a half dozen small sized bottles of Swift's Specific, she was entirely relieved and restored to health.
